TWENTY ON LOCAL RELIEF ROLL ARE GIVEN EMPLOYMENT

CWA Opens Registration Agency in Hardt Bldg. Mastne Is Supt.

Twenty men in Antioch township were taken off the Emergency Relief Roll and given employment starting Monday morning on a County project of repairing the Grass Lake road, according to Supervisor William A. Mastne. The work includes building fences, cleaning ditches, sloping and grading the road. It is expected to last until April 1, 1934.

The order came to Mr. Mastne through the Waukegan Emergency Relief Association in response to a state order, after Mr. Mastne had notified the state department that the Antioch Relief funds had been exhausted. The removal of the twenty men on the relief rolls eligible for employment will greatly lessen the local relief burden.

CWA Opens Agency Here

The Civil Works Administration, with Frank Mastne as superintendent for the local unit, opened an agency here Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock in the Hardt building, Main Street, where unemployed from Antioch, Lake Villa, Millburn, and surrounding territory may register.

Over one hundred registered during the first two hours Tuesday. Mr. Mastne reported. One hundred sixty-five, including 24 service men, were registered by one o'clock Wednesday.

The office will remain open from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. for ten days, after which all applications will be filed with the State CWA through the Waukegan office. There will be no job interviews until all applications are in and approved by the State. Although all possible speed is being taken, jobs probably will not be available before Dec. 15, according to Mr. Mastne.

It is the responsibility of the village to complete plans for employment projects, and to get applications to William F. Kirkham, chairman of the Lake County Illinois Emergency relief, and who is in charge of the CWA.

Mr. Mastne was appointed superintendent of the local relief at the central committee meeting held by John Keefe at Highland Park last week.

Hardt building has been donated for use of the CWA by the owner, and office equipment by Charles Ackerman.

Who registered prior to last Wednesday noon must re-register, ex-servicemen must show discharge papers.

Ten other stations were opened throughout the county Tuesday morning by Mrs. Fannie Brandstetter, superintendent of the Waukegan employment office. They are:

Waukegan, the Armory, on North County street, Ray McManaman, superintendent; Barrington, Pure Oil building, North Hough street, Cornelius Snyder, superintendent; Highland Park, Uddall building, Central avenue, Joe Cabanargi, superintendent; North Chicago, Killian building, Walter Rausie, superintendent; Zion, First State Bank Building, Twenty-seventh and Sheridan road, William Scherer, superintendent; Libertyville, 537 North Milwaukee avenue, Ray Kennedy, superintendent; Waukegan, Hett's garage, Richard Donley, superintendent; Fox Lake, Nagle Lumber company, Robert Witt, superintendent; Highland, basement Methodist church, Highland avenue, William Russell, superintendent; Grayslake, Brandstetter's building, Mancel Wightman, superintendent.

Federal Employees to Meet Friday

The next regular meeting of the National Federation of Federal Employees, Great Lakes Local No. 147, will be held in the staff room, Veterans Administration Hospital, North Chicago, Illinois, at 8 p. m. Friday, December 1, 1933.

It is expected that this will be a very interesting meeting as several matters of importance to Federal Employees will be brought up at that time.

GRAYSLAKE MAN SMASHES INTO RAY'S CAR-GREASING RACK

The car-greasing rack at Bert Ray's Sinclair station was unceremoniously mounted and smashed about eleven o'clock Monday evening, when Taura Angly, 810 Center street, Grayslake, came careening down Lake street in his car at a high rate of speed, according to reports, struck the sidewalk, leaped about twelve feet, and came to a stop on the greasing rack. With Angly was another man. The rack was considerably damaged, but the car received damages only to one wheel. The car was taken to the Ford Garage for repairs.

Angly is manager of the Grayslake Hotel. It is said that he was intoxicated at the time of the mishap.

Release Channel Lake Suspect in Racine Bank Case

Companion Is Held in Kenosha on Robbery Charge of Arthur Holtdorf

Albert Archampault, 35, of Channel Lake, arrested Friday as a suspect in the Racine robbery case, was released from the Waukegan jail Monday by Justice of the Peace Henry Wallenwein, after failure of the bank employees to identify him. According to Sheriff Lester Tiffany, Archampault is an associate of George "Bugs" Moran.

Morris Cohn, 37, Petite Lake, a companion of Archampault's, was arrested and sent to Kenosha Friday on a robbery charge at the complaint of Arthur E. Holtdorf, collector for a utility company, who stated that Cohn robbed him of $200. Although it was thought at first that he was an associate of the bank robbery, employees of the bank failed to identify him.

It was said that Archampault was arrested because he was seen repairing a car similar to the one used in the robbery of the American Bank and Trust Co. of Racine, where $27,500 in loot was taken, a policeman and assistant cashier were shot, and the bank president kidnapped.

Thanksgiving—Then and Now

This year a Thanksgiving dinner, we are told, will cost about five dollars for eight people. That seems reasonable enough compared to prices of commodities a few years ago, when there was plenty of everything, including money with which the housewife made her purchases for the year's biggest feast.

But how about this year? True, there is plenty of everything, and very moderate prices prevail—yet there is a scarcity of money, a scarcity never before known in history, which indicates that fewer Americans this year will celebrate the holiday in keeping with the American tradition of a well loaded table on Thanksgiving day.

Yet, without Americans this day will have much to be thankful for. A ray of hope is seen in increased employment, the wholesale resignations and discharges from government service those who are known to be aligned with the money-changers of Wall street, and the fact that the President's program to place money in the hands of the farmer and laborer has every indication of ultimate success.

One of the greatest crimes in history is the present day spectacle of people starving in a land of plenty. It will be recorded as such.

Wisconsin produces 61 per cent of the nation's cheese. Last year's Wisconsin production amounted to $22,000,000.

ADVERTISING CO. HELPS SEAL SALE

Limited Budget Handicaps Lake County T. B. Clinic

The donation of the use of ten bill boards by the General Outdoor Advertising Company to aid in the annual sale of Christmas Seals was announced this week by the Lake County Tuberculosis Association.

"Tuberculosis spreads in bad times," says the Association. "Congested living quarters, lack of proper food and clothing slowly undermines resistance."

At the last clinic, held November 23, it was impossible to take care of the number of patients who reported for treatment, so the doctor and nurses had to ask some of the patients whose cases were not so urgent to put off coming except once in every two or three months, thus enabling the Clinic to take care of the most virulent cases first. It is not that all of these cases do not need examinations, but the limited budget again prevents the Association from being able to give this care to all.

Buy Christmas Seals and fight tuberculosis.

December 3 has been designated as Health Sunday throughout the nation and all the ministers have offered to cooperate with the Tuberculosis Association with some mention of the work being done.

Helping the Women

Mrs. Ellen S. Woodward, Jackson (Miss.) social worker, is now in charge of developing useful civil work projects for unemployed women throughout the United States in connection with the federal emergency relief administration's broad program. Mrs. Woodward is the widow of Judge Albert V. Woodward of Mississippi and the daughter of the late William V. Sullivan, former United States senator from Mississippi. She is now on leave of absence from her position of executive secretary of the Mississippi state board of development. She served two terms in the Mississippi state legislature.

POTPOURRI

Holy Fish

The name halibut was taken from the word "holy" because for centuries this fish has been used for food on holy days. Being of the flatfish type, both eyes are on one side of the head instead of one on each side. Often a halibut will weigh between 300 and 400 pounds; the average size is about 75 pounds.

AGED MILLBURN MAN PASSES AWAY

Will Hold Service Friday for David White, Lake County Pioneer

David White, 82, a life-long resident of the Antioch-Millburn vicin-ity, passed away Tuesday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jesse Denman, Millburn, after several years of failing health.

He was born February 23, 1851, on the White homestead between Bean Hill and Oakland school, east of Antioch.

He was united in marriage to Miss Margaret McGreggie, Fourth Lake, March 30, 1882. She preceded him in death July 1, 1924. Four children were born to them, Earl A.; Mrs. Margaret Denman, Millburn; Bertha (Mrs. Carl) Newman, Boulder, Col.; George R. White, Antioch.

Mr. White lived his entire life until 1917 on the farm where he was born. Since that time he has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Denman, at Millburn.

He is survived by a brother, Andrew T. White, Mt. Dora, Florida, his children, and several grandchildren.

Mr. White always has been an active member in community affairs, and has served as a director of both the Oakland and Millburn schools for many years. He has been a life-long member of the Millburn Congregational Church, and has been a deacon for a number of years.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Millburn Congregational church, with burial in the Millburn cemetery.

Gold Buyer To Return Third Time

G. T. Cherington, representative of the American Scale Works, will return a third time to Antioch with his original offer of buying old gold, silver, or diamonds. He will be at the Waldo Hotel next Monday afternoon, Dec. 4, from 1 until 7 p. m.

Although Mr. Cherington expressed satisfaction at the response made by Antioch people on the two previous occasions, he is convinced that the community is not yet exhausted of old gold and silver and is willing to leave more money in Antioch by purchase of these articles.

The American Scale Works is a reliable concern, licensed by the government and vouched for by the Harvard Herald. Reasonable prices are paid for old articles, such as gold fillings, rings, watches, bracelets, napkin rings, or chains, often more than the seller has expected.

Farmers' cooperatives, under an executive order issued by President Roosevelt, are exempted from the fair practice section or codes designed to prohibit rebates. A number of cooperatives which give patronage dividends are affected by the order.

Hold Impressive Rites For C. Blunt

Sketch of Early Life Prefaces H. S. Catalogue of His Indian Relics

Impressive Masonic funeral rites were held Friday for Charles E. Blunt, 86, who passed away at his Antioch home Nov. 22, 1933, thus depriving the community of a fine citizen.

Mr. Blunt had always taken an active interest in lodge and community affairs, and was particularly interested in anthropology or scientific research, and in the collection of Indian relics.

A presentation of his rare and valuable collection of nearly two thousand and pieces were made to the Antioch high school just ten years ago, Nov. 30, 1923. Since that time he has written a preface to the high school catalogue of the collection, as well as an autobiographical sketch of his early life.

Early Life

Excerpts from that autobiography are given here:

"I was born in the town of Chili, near the city of Rochester, Munro Co., N. Y., December 22, 1846, and came with the family to Antioch, Ill., in April, 1849. I was the youngest of nine children, and consequently the first few years of pioneer experiences on account of my youth are somewhat limited. We came via the Erie Canal to Buffalo and from there by boat to Waukegan. I have heard my father say that when he landed in Waukegan his ready cash was seven dollars, and it wiped that out to get transportation out to the log house on forty acres, township 46, range 9, that he had purchased the year before.

"I distinctly remember, although I was quite small, that there was a fair, either state or county, being held in Chicago, and my father and a neighbor by the name of Asa Cribb walked there and back. It must have been soon after McCormick invented the reaper, and when my father came back he was telling us what a wonderful machine he had seen there on exhibition.

"In those pioneer days luxuries were scarce, few, and far between, very little money in circulation, and rates of interest exorbitant. If my memory serves me right, my father paid twenty per cent to furnish my oldest brother with an outfit—a yoke of oxen, wagon, etc., at the time of the gold rush to California."

School Memories

"When my parents moved to the state of Illinois in April, 1849, the oldest log school house (the Cribb school) was situated on the west side of the Fox Lake road, where the west end of the Lake Villa road now intersects with the said Fox Lake road. This land is now owned by H. Kline of Chicago. At that time it was known as the Malby district. Mr. Malby lived in a log house where later Thomas Wilton built a (Continued on Page 8)

OPEN VERDICT IS RETURNED BY JURY IN SCHMITZ CASE

Little Brother Is Cleared of Blame in Shooting 3 Years Ago

EVIDENCE IS CONFLICTING

An open verdict was returned early Monday evening by a coroner's jury at the reopened inquest into the death of George Schmitz, 14-year-old Channel Lake boy, and his 8-year-old brother, Ted, who was cleared of all blame. At the time of the fatal shooting nearly three years ago, young Ted, then 5 years old, was blamed for shooting his brother accidentally.

The Schmitz family insisted on having the inquest reopened, because of the repeated denials of Ted that he had killed his brother, and a recent statement of the youngster that the shooting had been done by Edward Sorensen, son of Einar Sorensen, Channel Lake Democratic leader.

The inquest was begun at 10 o'clock Monday morning at Strang's undertaking home by John L. Taylor, Coroner, Libertyville, and was not closed until about 6:30 that night, when the jury declared itself unable by reason of too much conflicting evidence, to affirm the blame for the shooting upon anyone.

Boys Quarrel
Although Ted had always denied that he had shot his brother, Edward Sorensen's name was not involved with the case until last summer when Ted stated that young Sorensen, who was 16 at the time of the shooting, had shot George February 8, 1931, because of a dispute over a raccoon which all the boys had been attempting to trap. Ted says that he was scared, and ran home to his father after he had shot him.

Upstairs Bedroom
According to his story, and warned him "not to tell mother or any one else" how the shooting occurred.

There were no other witnesses to this scene which the little boy describes, and which is emphatically denied by the Sorensen boys, Ed and Ray, who claim they never saw the Schmitz boys on that day. However, one of the boys admitted that his father accompanied George to the hospital, although Sorensen denied this.

Heard No Shot

Mrs. Schmitz and her daughters testified that on the evening of the shooting George came home looking pale and ill, and requested permission to take his little brother to bed with him. They said they did not hear a shot fired, but shortly afterwards George came downstairs crying that he had been shot.

A few weeks after the boy's death, according to testimony of the parents, they discovered that George's gun contained no shell and that the firing pin was removed.

Ted admitted that he had handled the .22-caliber rifle in his brother's room, but said he had not fired it.

"I picked it up and aimed it at the wall," he said.

"Then what did you do?"
"I dropped it, because George, who was on the floor, jumped up and ran downstairs. I thought maybe I shot him, but the gun didn't make any noise, and I hadn't pulled the trigger."

The gun was placed in the boy's hands, and it was found that he did not have sufficient strength to pull the hammer back. It was pointed out that three years ago, he would scarcely have been able to fire the gun, unless it were cocked.

George lived six days after the shooting, but during that time he made no remark as to who shot him. Mrs. Schmitz testified that she had been too excited at the time to question him, and postponed mention of the affair, expecting him to recover.

Sorensen Has 6 Witnesses

A quarrel had taken place in the basement of the Schmitz house, several weeks previous to the shooting over the disputed raccoon, during which the Schmitz family contended that Ed Sorensen had threatened to shoot George. Eugene Davis, who was present at the funeral, took the stand and contradicted this statement. The Schmitz family made (Continued on Page 8)

MUCH ADO ABOUT MONEY

The problem of monetary standards—which in its latest stage is characterized by the start of the United States' vast gold-buying campaign—will unquestionably be brought further into the limelight when Congress meets again.

It has become apparent that the world's business cannot be operated wholly on gold. It may always be the backbone of money—but it cannot live up to the job of being the heart and the tissue and corpuscles, too. It needs an ally. And silver, the poor man's gold, is eminently fitted for that position.

The monetization of silver, in the opinion of a great many economists, industrialists and agricultural authorities, would be a tremendous step, not only toward recovery, but toward achieving permanent stability. If that is true, the sooner it is achieved, the better.

AMERICANS NOT SO DUMB

A not wholly unjustified tradition has grown up both here and abroad, that European diplomats are pretty smooth stuff, and that American public men are so many babes in the woods when it comes to dealing with them. It's possible that that thought was in the mind of Russia's shrewd, experienced Litvinoff when he climbed the steps of the White House to confer with President Roosevelt over American-Russian recognition.

If so, Mr. Litvinoff soon became sadder and wiser. He found himself confronted by an excellent horse-trader with a Harvard accent to be sure, but a horse-trader nevertheless. Where M. Litvinoff has announced that so far as he was concerned, the negotiations could be concluded in half an hour, he found them extending on through the days.

Upshot was that the 16-year breach between the two major powers was ended, with the United States on the long end of the deal so far as most of its demands were concerned. Points of the treaty include: Waiver by the Soviet of all claims growing out of the famous Siberian expedition of 1918; a guarantee against official Soviet propaganda in this country; another guarantee against the formation of any group designed to change the government of the United States; fair and prompt trials for Americans erring against Soviet law; guarantee of the free exercise of religious beliefs of Americans resident in Russia. Little mention is made of trade relations and details concerning them remain to be worked out.

First Ambassador to present himself to steel-jawed, steel-eyed, steel-mannered Number 1 dictator of the world, Stalin, whose adopted name means Steel, will be William C. Bullitt, wealthy young Socialist, who has written a sophisticated novel satirizing Park Avenue, a popular song or two, and has been the State Department's Russian expert. One of Mr. Roosevelt's bright young men, he was instrumental in bringing about recognition and is considered an excellent choice.

WOMEN BUYERS AND ADVANCING PRICES

When it comes to selling most commodities, woman is the deciding factor. She manages the best of all markets, the American home. The Administration, in its drive for higher prices, is faced with definite housewife protest against advancing costs.

The housewife speaks through the figures. Department store sales, based on dollar value and not volume, have fallen steadily. Mrs. American has become accustomed to bargains; when they disappeared she stopped buying. To offset this, the government is intensifying its campaign to get more money into the hands of the public.

As for business in general, the picture is so mixed as to be impossible to depict accurately. Some businesses are up, some are down, and some are pursuing a steady middle course. On the whole, industry is substantially better off than it was when the year opened, and heartening gains have been made in employment, wages, working hours, and in profits of many corporations. The dark spot in the picture still is the farm situation.

A CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR YOU

This is the time of the year when most of us are thinking intently—and perhaps frantically—about the problem of Christmas gifts. And here's a good suggestion: Give a present to yourself; not for entirely selfish reasons, but in order to help those to whom Christmas this year might be just one more day.

The kind of a gift that will accomplish this purpose is one that provides employment and entails the purchase of basic commodities. And nothing fills the bill more completely than property construction and betterment. Give yourself a new furnace or a roof or an electric kitchen or a garage or some new furniture. Better yet, if it's possible, give yourself a new home—you'll be getting it for next to nothing in comparison to what the best opinion forecasts it will cost in the near future, and you'll be spreading Christmas cheer among numerous families.

Your local contractor or dealer in building materials is competent to advise you. He can show you where you can make real savings—how you can make "our dollars do Spartan duty." Talk it over with him. Think how much a wave of construction, even if on an individually small scale, would mean to the social and economic welfare of your community. And give yourself that Christmas present. You'll never regret it.

Jazz King's Muffins

2 tablespoons 1 cup flour
1 cup sugar 1 teaspoon baking
1 egg (well beaten) 1/2 teaspoon soda
1 cup sour milk 1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream the shortening and sugar, add egg and sour milk. Add bran and let soak until most of the moisture is taken up. Sift flour with baking powder, soda and salt and add to first mixture, stirring only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin tins two-thirds full and bake in a moderate oven (400° F.) for 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 6 large or 12 small muffins.

GET 1 MILE MORE IN EVERY GALLON

IMPROVED SUPER SHELL

Saves You 200 Extra Miles in Winter
—and Gives Quicker Starting

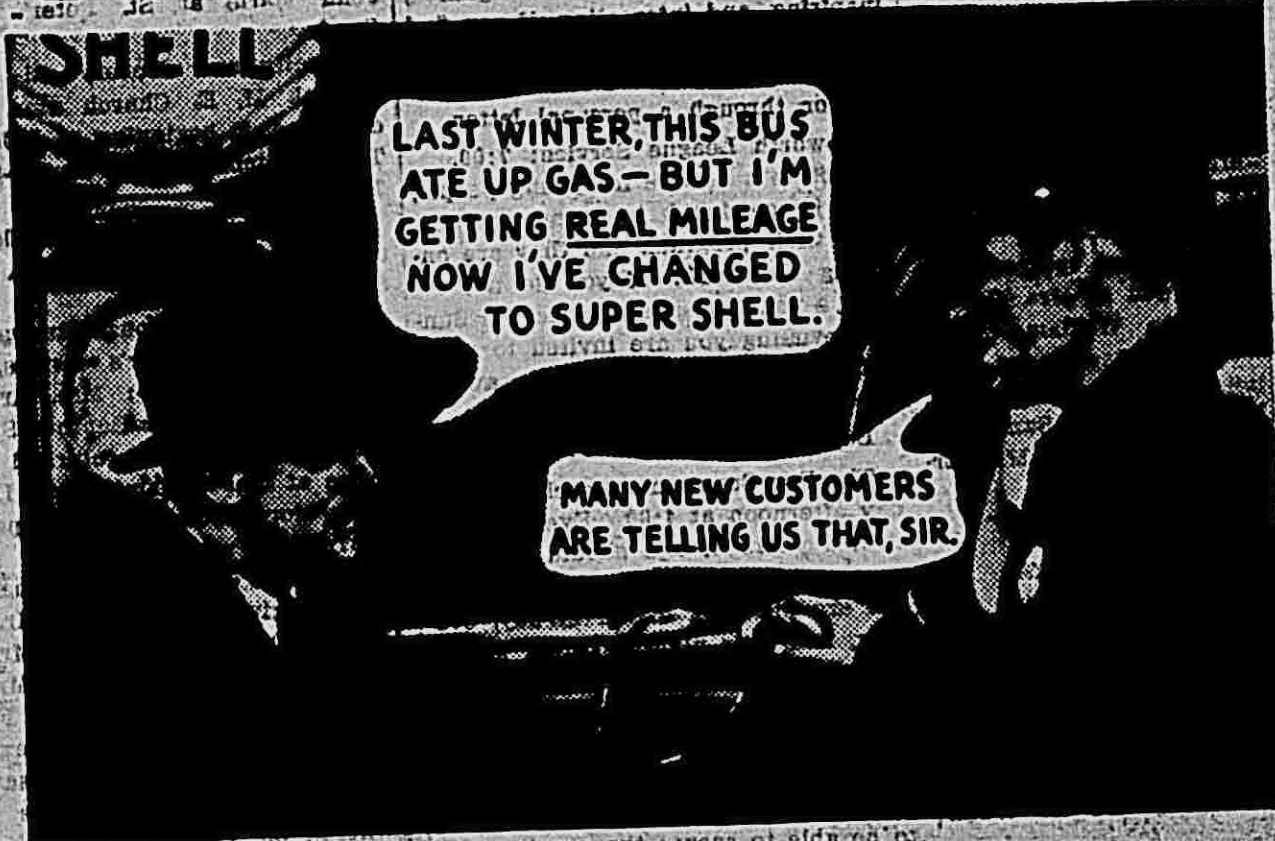

Here's real news for you motorists! Super Shell is improved again!

Some ordinary gasolines are overloaded for quick starting in cold weather, with light, gassy parts, which you lose after your engine warms up, thereby reducing your mileage. Other ordinary gasolines are hard to start, and waste your fuel by excessive choking and, therefore, they, too, reduce your mileage.

The Improved Super Shell, by Shell's new and exclusive reforming process, gives you quicker starting on the coldest day in winter, and saves, for extra mileage, the gasoline you formerly wasted in starting. Try a tankful.

YOU SAVE MONEY by using the Improved Super Shell. Because you get quicker starting with less gasoline, and that means you save gasoline on every gallon. So, extra mileage. Super Shell stops when you want. Use Super Shell this winter and save your money.

MANY NEW CUSTOMERS ARE TELLING US THAT, SIR.

THOUSANDS CHANGING TO SUPER SHELL... Like Mr. Roman, Cleveland, shown above, many thousands of motorists everywhere have changed to the improved new Super Shell. All because Super Shell is the first gasoline to combine quick starting with full mileage. No need for you to waste one mile or more per gallon in cold weather. No need to be bothered with a hard-starting engine. Change to Super Shell—get the quickest starting you've ever known, plus longer mileage.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Demanded," was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 26.

The Golden Text was, "I will deliver thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeem thee out of the hand of the terrible" (Jeremiah 16:21).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "The Lord is good, a strong hold in the day of trouble; and he knoweth them that trust in him. Behold upon the mountains the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace" (Nahum 1:7, 15).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Every mortal at some period, here or hereafter, must grapple with and overcome the mortal belief in a power opposed to God" (p. 569).

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH "A Friendly Church"

Church School 9:45.

We urge every scholar to be present on time so that we may begin promptly. Much valuable time is lost in delayed attendance, and the School has only 52 hours a year in which to put on one of the greatest programs ever advanced.

Morning Worship Service: 11:00.

The theme for the service will be: "Four Things Wrong." What can be done about them? We are endeavoring to make this service dignified, inspiring, and interesting, if you find it so tell your friends and invite them to come, if not tell us in person or through a personal letter.

Epworth League Service: 7:00.

This is a service for young people, and is conducted by young people. It is their program, and they are enjoying the work. If you do not attend a young people's service on Sunday evening you are invited to meet with us. A friendly welcome awaits you.

Boy Scouts of America:

The Boy Scouts meet each Wednesday afternoon at 4:00. Every boy of twelve years of age should take advantage of this great boy's game. We are planning hikes: all-day, evening, and over night; skating meets, steak fries, and many other interesting things for the winter. Join now, dues 50 cents a year and five cents a week.

COMING: We are very fortunate to be able to secure the great movie picture, "Fabiola," which will be presented Thursday evening, Dec. 14. Admission free; offering to defray expenses.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. BELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Talking Health Is Bad

Everyone knows how tired we get over hearing some one thing all the time. It may be a popular song, a bit of slang, or just plain words spoken too often. At first we become so accustomed to it that it does not mean anything. Then, as we say, we get "sick of it." Well, that is one rebellion of the child when he hears "health" day in and day out. Some he gets used to it, and when he doesn't understand what it means, it is just as much wasted breath.

If the child thinks of health only as "getting well," how are we to influence him when he is well? Ask yourself "What does he want most when he is well?" There is the key; his interest. If it is summer, it may be swimming; in the winter, skating. Perhaps there is a ball team or a Scout troop. It may be to sing or to play the piano better; or, just possibly, to get better marks at school. Look for the things children want to do and you have the strongest possible appeal.

Next week Dr. Ireland will write about malnutrition.

H. S. Teams Play Wauconda the 29th

3-Game Basketball Event Is Expected to Draw Many Fans

The Antioch high school cagers have been practicing steadily for the first important non-conference game of the season, and are prepared to meet Wauconda Wednesday night, Nov. 29. Basketball fans will be given a real treat, as three games have been scheduled, a first and second team game, and a preliminary battle between the freshmen teams of the two schools.

Coach Cox said yesterday that the freshmen class showed unusual promise.

In past years Wauconda has often proved a strong rival, and indications are that the teams will be quite evenly matched, insuring interesting contests for tonight.

Dundee will bring its first string players here next Tuesday evening, Dec. 5, for a practice game.

The conference season will be opened with a bang on Friday evening, Dec. 8, when the Antioch cagers meet their ancient enemy, Warren, on the home floor, for a three-game show-down.

FRESHMAN BANQUET FOR PARENTS DRAWS LARGE ATTENDANCE

The banquet held by the freshmen of the Antioch Township High School for their parents Friday evening proved to have an exceedingly popular appeal, as about one hundred fifty were present. Following the chicken pie dinner, which was prepared by Mrs. Robert Wilton and Mrs. Murray and served by graduates and postgraduates, an informal program was held.

A community sing, in which all the parents participated willingly, was followed by a talk by Mr. Bright on "The High School and Your Children," in which he gave much pertinent information on modern high school methods. He introduced the teachers, who spoke briefly about their particular subjects.

Miss Jayne Allner sang a solo, and a trio composed of Jayne Allner, Clara Sherwood, and Andrew Dargard, sang two numbers, "Who Hath the Love of a Mother," and "When My Mother Sings to Me." Before adjourning to the gymnasium, Thomas Cox, coach, discussed athletic plans which included an active part for every student, not only "stars." The basketball game between two freshmen teams ended in an 8-6 victory for the Hot-chas over the Green Dragons.

The banquet was conceived and planned by Miss Alice E. Smith, freshman class adviser, with Thomas Cox, also an adviser for the class, assisting.

G. S. BASKETBALL TEAM TO PLAY RETURN GAME WITH L. VILLA

With every hope of turning the tables in a return game with Lake Villa (the Antioch grade school is set to play them on the home floor Wednesday, Dec. 6, Lake Villa played the home team ten days ago by a close score, 11-9.

Fox Lake defeated Antioch's first team Saturday, 30-15, but Antioch's second team took their opponents, 7-2. Antioch players were Charles Miller, Jack Crandall, George and Charles Hawkins, Joe Koukol.

Third grade pupils are busy making candles by the dipping method as the Pilgrim Mothers used to do.

THANKSGIVING OF OLD DAYS RECALLED ON G. S. PROGRAMS

The Thanksgiving season will be observed at the grade school this afternoon with a variety of programs, including plays, songs, recitations, and readings suggestive of the Thanksgiving of our Pilgrim fathers. The third grade are presenting the play, "Indiana for Thanksgiving," in which every member of the class is participating in some way. "Thanksgiving Dinner of Long Ago" will be the play enacted by the seventh grade pupils. The fourth grade also is presenting a play and other numbers.

Movied presented before all the grade school children Monday morning included a three-reel film of "Little Red Riding Hood," and one reel of the following subjects: Bobby's Dream, Peeps into Puzzleland, and Alphabetical Zoo.

First grade pupils entertained the high school students during assembly Tuesday morning by a presentation of their Thanksgiving program which they presented last week before the eighth grade.

Hans Von Holwede and his high school jazz band played at the play and dance sponsored by the Salem Center P. T. A. Friday night.

A Thanksgiving song fest was held at the high school Wednesday morning.

How to Eat for Health and Beauty

Patricia Ellis, 16-year-old screen beauty, typifies the natural charm of healthy youth.

THE sub deb's complexion problem is hardly a problem at all, for if she follows a healthful diet she can well ignore cosmetics and skin creams. Even such special skin troubles as pimples which sometimes crop up to worry 16-year-olds can usually be controlled by a diet abundant in fresh milk, cheese, buttermilk, leafy vegetables, oranges and grapefruit; and low in rich pastries, candy and fried foods.

MINERALS AND CELLULOSE ARE COMPLEXION AIDS

Milk Contains More of the Indispensable Lime Than Other Foods

While much stress is given by manufacturers of artificial beauty aids to the importance of cream lotions, and beauty shops in preserving a fine complexion, there's not so much propaganda about internal beauty aids.

Exterior beauty aids do play a part in preserving a good complexion, but except in cases of excessively clogged pores, due to oil or dirt, they are not necessarily the original cause of a clear skin. That must come from inside.

Diet and elimination are the primary secrets of a good complexion. Most of us believe that fruits and vegetables are beauty aids—you've heard it said that carrots make the cheeks red and the eyes bright—but we've never known exactly why. One reason is that raw fruits and certain green vegetables contain cellulose, or roughage to induce elimination. The other is that they are possessed of minerals essential to good health.

Lime Is Valuable Aid
Lime, or calcium, it is said, is the most important mineral in preserving the characteristics of youth. In comparison with other foods, even fruits and vegetables, milk contains this mineral in surprising abundance. A quart of milk daily will do as much as mounds of vegetables—important as they are—to provide the necessary lime to maintain good health.

Milk, you know, is the "perfect" food for babies. And what blooming complexion they have! Adults require more variety, particularly as regards roughage, but milk should continue to form a part of the diet.

Milk need not be taken "straight," but may be used to make a chocolate drink, egg-nog, custards, or junkets.

Natural elimination is greatly preferable to the artificial. Regularity is important in establishing a good natural movement, as well as certain laxative foods or drinks, such as water, most fruit juices and raw fruits, vegetables, bran. One little used by adults is molasses, corn syrup, or sorghum, but they are as excellent for adults as for babies.

Velvet Is Chosen For Winter Weddings

Every Gold, or Rose Velvet Adds Classic Touch to Bridal Ensemble

Anyone intending to take the altar trail this winter doubtless has a quite detailed picture in her mind of her wedding attire. To be a representative bride of this season, velvet is the thing.

Velvet is so adaptable—much more now than formerly. We never used to hear about cream colored velvet, but what could be more effective than a golden velvet wedding? The bridal gown could be of cream ivory velvet, and the bridesmaids in pale or old gold, with chrysanthemums and yellow roses.

Something a trifle less classic, perhaps, but certainly appropriate would be a "study" in shades of rosy pink, with the bride in white, with only a suggestion of pink in the undergarments, and the bridesmaids in tea rose pink velvet, with matching roses a shade deeper than the brides.

If the bride-elect is going in for trains, there's a closefitting velvet coat with lace fichu accentuating the outline, and shoulder epaulets of orange blossoms, and yards of tulle veil. The newest headresses are draped and slanted this year.

Bridesmaids have their ensembles completed with velvet hats which are off the face, velvet gloves with broad cuffs, and velvet sandals. Other details include huge bows on the shoulders.

And in all, it sounds smooth as silk, doesn't it?

"Arkansas Planter" Gives Glimpse of Old Southern Life

There's something fetching about this book of Opie Reed's—"Arkansas Planter." It opens in a rather aimless manner, and yet before he is aware of it, the reader finds himself in an Arkansas home, concerned with the problems of its owners.

There's the old colonel and his wife and two "growing" children—the daughter who is causing them much worry by her insistence upon marrying a dying man, and the happy-go-lucky son. Besides, there are three or four other characters of interesting personalities.

There doesn't seem to be much plot to the story—it just rambles on with episodes from pre-Civil War days, with darkies as a changing background—now subservient and content, again truculent and on the warpath.

A simple love interest is woven into the tale, but it doesn't form the major part of it—one is apt to wonder what, if any, is the "theme" of this story.

Fashion Previews

Evening gown straps of roses, four or five inches in diameter are used to go over each shoulder and outline the deep V of the neck in the back.

Holiday frocks, daintily turning a cold shoulder to their Mae West cousins, will be demure, sweetly-scented and lady-like.

Long gloves of velvet, kid, or suede are worn with short-sleeved gowns.

Handbags almost as large as week-end bags are being carried with daytime clothes.

Slippers may be in the costume can stand alone for evening and for footwear is particularly gay.

Paris is going in for the silk that stand alone for evening and for dressy daytime frocks.

Modest shoes, mounting up to the instep, are claiming the attention of Paris. Any openwork or trimming is to be found on the sides. The newest evening shoes are in a fine leather, stenciled with silver or gold lines.

In the past month 9,000 men have been put to work on NRA projects under the public works allotments within the National Forests, Secretary Wallace announces. The work includes the development of roads and trails.

Help to Utilize Excess Food by Canning, Pickling

By WALTER W. McLAUGHLIN
Director, Illinois Department of Agriculture

ONE of the most deplorable things about the period we have just been going through is that food has been going to waste while people went hungry. One way to remedy this situation is for individuals to store away this excess food for such time as it is needed—by canning and pickling. Fortunately, some of our Illinois foods do not need any special attention to preserve them. Milk, of course, is supplied fresh every day, so there is no need to preserve it and the dependable apple and potato will both keep in storage. But grapes, peaches and corn must be preserved or canned.

WALTER W. McLAUGHLIN, DIRECTOR, ILLINOIS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Of course apples, too, can be preserved—in the form of jelly, apple butter and so on. Grape juice is one of the most attractive ways of conserving grapes.

Thanksgiving Left Overs Can Be Used In Shepherd's Pie

The day after Thanksgiving. The cupboard is bare of all save leftovers. Warmed over turkey, chicken, or roast, whichever graced the table yesterday, will do for a foundation for the meal, but what next?

There are mounds of cold mashed potatoes, but the family doesn't take to reheated mashed potatoes in a manner noticeably graceful. Still, it does seem a shame not to use them and start again with fresh potatoes. Why not try the following simple dish?

Shepherd's Pie
1 cup ground cooked meat
1 cup gravy or stock
1 1/2 cups mashed potatoes
1 tablespoon fat
1/2 teaspoon salt
Mix meat, gravy and salt. Arrange meat mixture and potatoes in alternating layers in buttered baking dish and bake. Have a layer of potatoes on top. Dot top with butter. Bake in a moderate oven about 400 degrees F.—about 15 minutes.
Usually there's no dressing left after a holiday dinner, but if there should be, add it to the pie for extra flavor.

GLASSES OF JELLY TIED WITH RIBBON ARE JAUNTY GIFTS

If a thing is neither useful nor beautiful, there is not much excuse for its existence. The same maxim might be applied to Christmas presents—if they are neither practical nor possessed of beauty, there's no reason for giving them.

The ideal gift, of course, combines both usefulness and beauty. Often an ordinary practical gift can be transformed with just a bit of care. For example:

If you intend to make up a basket for some family or friend containing little glasses of jelly, a bit of ribbon and crepe paper can change it into a perky attractive gift.

The paraffin cover on jelly glasses is often hard to remove. Pour a small amount of paraffin on the jelly and then lay a clean string—or for gift purposes—a bright ribbon across the glass before pouring on the rest of the paraffin. The string extends across the edges of the glass and is easily grasped when removing the paraffin.

With this gay ribbon or string, one can securely tie a cheery Christmas wrapper about the glass.

Consumers in this country in 1932 paid $1,656,000,000 for meat produced in this country. The farmers got only $721,000,000 of this amount.

Depression Has Taught American Housewife How to Make Less Expensive Cuts Attractive Dinner Offerings

A PROMINENT meat packer told me recently that the depression had done for the meat industry what years of educational effort and thousands of dollars had failed to do. It had taught the American housewife that there was something to a cow besides a sirloin or tenderloin steak.

What to do with the less expensive cuts of meat is no longer a problem," he said. "Women have learned that they can save considerable money by using these cuts several times a week and at the same time satisfy the family demand for a meat dish."

The real answer though, he believes, lies in the better knowledge of seasoning and preparation, which has been uncovered during the last few years by some of our foremost culinary experts. Many of our best cooks have developed new and interesting ways of preparing these less expensive cuts of meat.

Less expensive cuts of meat, they found, could be made just as tasty as the higher priced ones by proper seasoning. The secret, however, is in the type of seasoning used and the way they are blended to create a harmonious whole.

Salt, pepper, sugar, sage and other standard condiments are still in every kitchen and these are all important in turning the inexpensive cut into a delicious dish.

Everyone is familiar with the seasoning qualities of salt and pepper and most of the other standbys. The sugar is a recent discovery of culinary experts, although it has been used by cooks for centuries and has been used by some of our best cooks for years.

Functions, not as a sweetener, but to "blend" and "round" up the other flavors. Here is one meat dish, made from inexpensive cuts, that provides a tasty offering calculated to please the entire family.

Meat Stew
Here is one meat dish, made from inexpensive cuts, that provides a tasty offering calculated to please the entire family.

1 pound round steak, ground
1/2 cup onion, minced
1/2 cup tomato, minced
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup salt
1 small onion, minced

Mix onion, sugar, sage, tomato, salt and meat until well blended. Shape in a mound and place in a roaster. Cover top with four or five strips of bacon. Place in an oven about 375° F. for one hour. Remove top of roaster the last fifteen minutes and increase heat.

SCHMITZ VERDICT

other statements accusing Sorensons of making threats of burning the house, and shooting them, but Sorensons produced witnesses to deny point for point the evidence brought against them.

Members of the Schmitz family also testified that after the shooting

Sorenson threatened them not to press the matter, but Theodore Schmitz, Sr., admitted that Einar Sorenson had explained later that he had been drinking at the time the threat was made, and that they shook hands.

Coroner Taylor and State's Attorney Charles Mason said that the Schmitz family had been pressing them to conduct an investigation into the shooting ever since the gun with the broken firing pin had been examined. Therefore, they reopened the inquest to give both sides a fair chance to produce evidence, but said that they can do no more now, having insufficient grounds for further investigation. Attorney Earl K. Cook represented the Schmitz family at the inquest.

The same jury that met three years ago was selected to consider the evidence Monday. They are: Chase Webb, foreman; Richard Allen, Frank Dibble, John Sibley, Walter Chinn, and Adolf Pesat, Jr.

BLUNT'S MEMORIES

brick house which was burned down not many years since. The property is now owned by one of the Lehmans.

"If my memory serves me right, the first teacher was Miss Charlotte Stanford whose parents lived down at Avery's corners, now known as Monaville. The property is now owned by one of the Barnstables. The next teacher was Miss Nancy Marsh, daughter of Pelig Marsh, and I believe the third teacher was Byron Stephens, whose parents used to live out near Gurnee. I think there is a brother still living by the name of Andrew. Then the next teacher was Miss Catherine Welch, whose parents lived near Long Lake. I would not be positive, but I think she was the last teacher until after the school house was moved up to the Cribb district. I think the reason why the old log school house was moved was because the districts were changed or reestablished.

Gold Discovered

"It was soon after Mr. Stephens' term expired that the whole country was excited over the discovery of gold in California. It was not long before quite a large party of gold seekers were organized. I think I can remember most of those included in the party—my brother, Martin, Byron Stephens, Mathew Cribb, James Low, Mr. Maltby and his son, Eugene, Mr. Kims, Mr. Farrier, William Harden, and one or two of the Webbs. I well remember the bright spring morning when the cavalcade consisting of quite a good many yoke of oxen and a number of wagons covered with white canvas started for the land of hidden wealth."

(More school reminiscences of Mr. Blunt will appear in an early issue.)

Carbon Monoxide Gas Fatalities Increase

Deaths Quadrupled in 8 Years; Early Winter Months Worst

Chicago, Nov. 29.—(Special)—The occurrence of several carbon monoxide deaths already this fall and reports from Washington that such fatalities took an alarming turn upward last year has led the National Safety Council to issue a nationwide warning against this dread killer.

"The first prolonged cold snap of winter always brings with it an abnormally high toll of fatalities caused by carbon monoxide gas poisoning," the Council declared. "This mysterious death-dealer strikes with little or no warning in the garage, on the highway, in the home and elsewhere. "Tragic cases reported in the newspapers are apparently the only effective warnings. Motorists apparently forget all about this peril from one winter to the next. As winter wears on, they seem to be more careful to keep the garage windows and doors open when running their motors. It is unfortunate that scores of lives must be sacrificed each year before the lesson is sufficiently impressed on other motorists.

Death Increase 400 Per Cent

Safety Council figures, corroborated by U. S. Census Bureau data, indicate that carbon monoxide deaths are increasing out of all proportion to other forms of accidental death. From a total of 123 deaths from this cause in 1924 the figures went to 487 in 1931. In 1932 the toll jumped nearly 25 per cent in a single year to 608; and represented an eight-year increase of nearly 400 per cent. This increase is especially striking when it is remembered that accidental deaths from all causes decreased nearly ten per cent last year from the 1931 figure.

Carbon monoxide gas takes its heaviest toll in residence garages. The fact that it is odorless, tasteless and invisible makes it especially insidious. The motorist goes into his garage on a cold morning and, finding the motor cold, he proceeds to run the engine in the closed building until it warms up, unmindful of the fact that the purring motor may be humming his requiem. When no fresh air is present a running motor will generate a sufficient amount of the gas to kill within a few minutes. The driver usually succumbs before he is even aware of his peril.

Records show that many of the carbon monoxide fatalities occur on the highways when the exhaust pipe becomes choked and the gas seeps up into the tightly closed car or cab in cold weather. This hazard, of course, has become more prevalent in recent years since the vast majority of automobiles are now of the closed type. Several cases were reported last winter in which two, three and even four members of a family succumbed to the gas while the car was traveling along the highway.

Fresh Air Is Preventive

Other deaths occur from operating gas appliances, stoves, furnaces and other heating devices which have become defective and are being used in poorly ventilated homes.

The arch-enemy of carbon monoxide gas is fresh air. Plenty of it in the garage, in the closed car and in the home will eliminate the hazard.

Scores of fatalities are averted each year, according to the Council, by the prompt and proper application of the Schaefer method of prone pressure resuscitation. The victim should be removed to fresh air immediately, resuscitation begun at once; and continued until he is revived or until a physician pronounces him dead.
